 - * Sending it by registered post.

The original documents must be sent to the Designated Officer. In the case of filing by telefax the original documents must be submitted to the Designated Officer within seven days of faxing.

5. Information to be contained in the application

5.1 Applicability of the Development Facilitation Act, 1995 (DFA)

As part of the executive summary, the following should be provided by the applicant:

- * A statement in the executive summary indicating that the specifics of the proposed Land Development Application requires that the DFA be utilized as a procedural route;
- * demonstrate that the application is consistent with the principles inherent in the legislation; and
- * that the Land Development Application complies with the priority to be afforded to DFA applications;

In a situation where the Designated Officer has advised the applicant that alternative legislation procedures should be used for the approval of the application (e.g. Planning and Development Legislation, Ordinance) and the applicant has insisted on using the DFA, this shall be stated on the Designated Officer's report.

5.2 Identification of the applicant

- * A clear statement identifying the applicant must be provided so that the Designated Officer and tribunal members are in no doubt.
- * In a situation where a third party (a multi disciplinary team) is representing the interests of a community based organization, State Department, provincial administration, a regional council, metropolitan council, a transitional council or private developer, these relationships must be stated.
- * Reference must be made to copies of appropriate letters of appointment or powers of attorney, which must be contained in the main body of the report.

5.3 Type of application

The applicant must indicate in terms of a statement, what the nature of the Land Development Application is e.g.: -

- * An application for a land development area in terms of Section 31 or 49;
- * A joint application for a land development area and a registration arrangement in terms of Sections 31 and 49;
- * An application for a land registration arrangement in terms of Section 61;
- * An application for Conditions of Establishment to be imposed in terms of Section 34;
- * An application for the amendment of a land development application in terms of Sections 35 and 52;

- * An application for exemption from provision of the act in terms of Section 30 or 48;
- * An application for the investigation of a non-statutory land development in terms of Section 42 or 57;
- * An application relating to a procedural or interim matter in terms of Sections 22, 24, 17, 2(7), 5(5) or 7.

5.4 Background

- * This Section must contain a short overview of the background to the Land Development Application.
- * The applicant will need to state if the application or one of a similar nature has been considered in terms of any other legislation and has either changed procedural routes or what the outcome of the previous application has been.
- * In a situation of refusal in terms of a previous procedural route, the applicant would need to provide the reasons for the refusal.
- * Applicants are also referred to Section 67 of the DFA, which contains the rules for changing other applications to DFA applications and the period for resubmitting a refused DFA application.
- * Aspects to be included in this section would be the need and desirability of the proposed development and its relationship if any, to other initiatives e.g. the Provincial Housing Subsidy, provincial and national policy.

5.5 Proposed development

- * A brief description of the proposed development should be provided here.
- * Specific attention should be paid to the substantive nature of the proposed development e.g. an upgrading project, an integrated development on a Greenfield site, development as the result of strategic economic or other considerations.
- * The applicant will be required to show whether the Land Development Application falls within the auspices of an Integrated Development Plan (IDP), Town-planning Scheme or other plan. Where such a plan is applicable, the applicant will outline the relationship between the proposed development, the principles of the DFA and any land development objectives (LDO' s), town planning controls, zoning and land uses. Where a former town planning scheme or other plan is being converted into an IDP this needs to be stated. The relationship between the planning context and the land use controls being utilized needs to be made clear.
- * In a situation where an area with minimal controls is being incorporated into a formalized town-planning scheme area via an upgrading application, the applicant will need to state that the conditions of establishment and land use controls proposed for the development are compatible with the existing scheme or plan. If they are not, then the applicant must indicate that adequate motivation has been provided in the main application, which would require that, the tribunal addresses the special circumstances of the proposed application and exempts it from the existing land use controls.

5.6 Land/Legal Matters

- * A brief cadastral description would need to be provided.
- * The applicant must indicate if he/she is the owner of the land or is acting in an agency capacity on behalf of the owner. Appropriate letters of appointment to act on behalf of the owner must be attached to the application. A similar requirement would bind a community development trust bringing an application on behalf of landowners or occupants of the land under the auspices of an application made subsequent to a restitution claim.
- * Copies of the relevant title deeds and diagrams must be submitted with the main application.
- * Copies of any mortgage agreements and financial restraints such as bonds must be submitted. Only a brief synopsis of main points needs to be included in the executive summary. Requests for any removal or inclusions of existing restrictive conditions of title or servitudes must be addressed.
- * The vesting of mineral rights and a copy of the letter from the Regional Office of the Department of Mineral and Energy Affairs indicating their knowledge of the proposed Land Development Application are required.
- * Existing land rights must be outlined.
- * Tenure issues need to be detailed by the applicant and the method of transfer to the end user will have to be addressed. The applicant must indicate what type of tenure is being provided to the end user and whether a registration arrangement is being sought as part of the application. Part of this section will deal with submission of the Land Availability Agreement by the applicant and its appropriateness. In a situation where the land is state owned and not encumbered, and is to be used by the Land Development Application as part of an upgrading process, these matters must to be outlined briefly in this Section.
- * A fundamental issue, which the applicant must have addressed, is the status of the land with respect to potential land claims in terms of the Restitution of Land Rights, Act 22 of 1994 or the non applicability of the Act to the land under consideration. The importance of this cannot be overstated since this is the only statute that the development tribunal may not exempt an Land Development Application from in terms of their powers. In the main document a letter from the Regional Land Commissioner (Department of Land Affairs) certifying that the land is not the subject of a claim must be provided by the applicant.

5.7 Community Participation

- * The applicant will be required to demonstrate in addition to having followed the notification procedures that adequate attention has been paid to the issue of community participation. This aspect is particularly important where the proposed Land Development Application could have a great impact on a surrounding community.

- * In the case where the applicant is representing a community development trust or community based organization the applicant must indicate the nature and legal status of the organization. Where a municipality is representing his own constituents in a Land Development Application, they would have to demonstrate that appropriate community participation has been part of the process of development and that the public interest of the wider community affected by the proposed Land Development Application have been addressed. Where land is being developed for an urban or rural community group or part of a “tribe”, evidence of a social compact between the developer and the end user group must be shown.

5.8 Environmental Considerations (Regulation 27)

- * The DFA explicitly promotes an integrated approach to land development, which includes the presentation and conservation of natural bio-diversity and the environment. The applicant must demonstrate that he/she has addressed the interrelationship between the built and natural environments.
- * In addition a brief analysis of the site from a physiographic perspective must be included under this section. An applicant would also need to show that the Land Development Application has appropriately considered the relationship of environmental laws and regulations (the Environmental Conservation Act No 73 of 1989 and Regulations R1182) in relation to the proposed development.
- * The need to protect and move indigenous trees on site or a programmed of replacing exotic species with indigenous and natural plants is an example to be included as part of smaller applications. Where the site is regarded as sensitive and the proposed development more likely to have an impact, an overview of the findings of Environmental Impact Report must be included as part of the summary. Detailed documentation e.g. a plan depicting the area of study for the Environmental Impact Assessment and the copy of the Environmental Impact Assessment must be provided in the main report together with a letter from the Department of Environmental Affairs stating that the requirements of Regulation R1182 have been complied with.

5.9 Geotechnical issues (Regulation 26)

- * The applicant must indicate that a suitably qualified person has undertaken the necessary geotechnical analysis of the proposed site and has provided a detailed report and certificate.
- * The actual geotechnical report and a copy of the certificate must be included as part of the main report and must be referred to for purposes of clarity.
- * A plan indicating areas of instability must be included. Where special landscaping or contouring of the land is required to stabilize it, reference must be made briefly to this matter.
- * The affect of the Geotechnical findings on the proposed Land Development Application must be stated clearly and briefly.

5.10 Services Agreements

- * The applicant must demonstrate and provide evidence that the required services agreements have been signed with the relevant local government body or servicing agency responsible for the provision of services to the Land Development Application.
- * Copies of such agreements must be included as annexure to the main report. It must be stated in the summary that such agreements have been approved and signed.

5.11 Institutional responsibility

- * The applicant must indicate which tier of government will be responsible for the administration, service provision and maintenance of the proposed Land Development Application.
- * If the nature of the development is such that it is to be administered by national departments as well as second or third tier government (e.g. some land reform areas) this institutional complexity needs to be spelt out by the applicant.

5.12 Application for exemption from other legislation

- * The applicant must indicate that he/she has requested consideration and motivated adequately for the exclusion of the provisions of various statutes applicable to the proposed Land Development Application. Reference is made to Chapters V and VI of the Act which requires that the applicant indicate the need for the exemption from legislation dealing with the regulation of settlement, land development, township establishment, zoning and land use, national building regulations and sub-division of land if this is required. The applicant must indicate whether such a request for exemption has been made, list the statutes or regulations and refer to the detailed section in the main application, which deals with the matter in more detail.

5.13 Other considerations

- * The applicant must address any other issues that he/she believes is relevant for the consideration of the Land Development Application but are not covered under other headings.
- * Included may be the particular architectural merit and design of a Land Development Application, the conservation of building facades in terms of the National Monuments Act or other relevant information related to the substantive and procedural aspects of the application.

5.14 Principles that must be contained in the Land Development Application motivations

- * Land Development Application should indicate or demonstrate that the proposed development adheres to the development principles as enshrined in Chapter 1 of the DFA.

6. Advertisement procedure

- 6.1 The applicant must no later than 65 days prior to the date of the pre-hearing conference give notice of the land development application and the dates of the pre-hearing and the tribunal hearing, substantially in the form of Annexure C of the Regulations (See Annexure 2) to:

- The applicant must ensure that notice of the application to the persons referred to in Regulation 21, Sub-regulation 6(d)(iv) is adequately communicated, for example by means of distribution of leaflets or public announcement in the area.
- 6.3 The applicant must in the form of Annexure D of the Regulation (See Annexure 3) display on a prominent and easily accessible position on the land forming the subject matter of the application a notice (placard) for a period of at least 14 consecutive days. The notice must at least be A2 size and covered in plastic.
